

American Badger

What does it eat?

The badger eats small rodents such as ground squirrels and gophers. They will also eat birds, lizards, snakes, and insects if they are easy to catch.

Bobcat

What does it eat?

The bobcat will eat mice, squirrels, small fawns, birds, and rabbits.

Coyote

What does it eat?

Coyotes will eat anything they can catch including insects, birds, snakes, lizards, frogs, rabbits, and beavers. They will also eat plants such as grasses and berries.

Gray Fox

What does it eat?

The gray fox will eat rabbits, mice, beetles, and grasshoppers. They will also eat a variety of plants and fruit.

Northern Raccoon

What does it eat?

Raccoons will eat almost anything. This includes grasshoppers, worms, grubs, frogs, crayfish, snakes, and even eggs. They will also eat berries, acorns, nuts, and leaves.

Pygmy Rabbit

What does it eat?

The Pygmy Rabbits eats mostly sagebrush. But they will eat any green plant that is available.

Black-tailed Jackrabbit

What does it eat?

The Black-tailed Jackrabbit will eat grasses and leaves of shrubs.

Cliff Chipmunk

What does it eat?

The Cliff chipmunk mostly eats seeds and other plant materials. However, they will also eat small animals such as insects.

Great Basin Pocket Mouse

What does it eat?

This mouse will mostly eat seeds. Sometimes the pocket mouse will eat plants and insects.

American Beaver

What does it eat?

Beavers will eat leaves and the inner bark of trees and shrubs.

North American Porcupine

What does it eat?

The porcupine will eat a wide variety of plant material including the leaves, fruit, and seeds.

Elk

What does it eat?

Elk are grazers. They eat a large amount of grass.

However, elk will also eat leaves and young shoots of trees and shrubs.

Mule Deer

What does it eat?

Mule Deer prefer to eat young shoots of trees and shrubs, buds, and fruit. However, they will eat any type of plant.

Bighorn Sheep

What does it eat?

Bighorn sheep are grazers. They eat a wide variety of grasses.

Long-eared myotis

What does it eat?

These bats eat a large number of beetles, moths, and other insects.

Pallid bat

What does it eat?

These bats will eat insects, crickets, scorpions, beetles, and grasshoppers.

Ringneck Snake

What does it eat?

This snake eats small frogs, lizards, worms, and other snakes.

Great Basin Collard Lizard

What does it eat?

This lizard will eat insects, spiders, lizards, berries, and plants.

Bullfrog

What does it eat?

Bullfrogs will eat anything it can find including insects, minnows, other frogs, turtles, snakes, and small mammals.

Great Basin Spadefoot

What does it eat?

These frogs eat beetles, flies, insects, ants, moths, grasshoppers, and other small animals.

American Kestrel

What does it eat?

This bird will just about anything it can catch. It will eat insects, small rodents, grasshoppers, beetles, spiders, mice, and birds.

Song Sparrow

What does it eat?

These birds eat seeds and berries. However, depending on the time of year they will also eat insects, grasshoppers, and spiders.

Pseudoscorpions

What does it eat?

This animal will eat small insects, larva, and ants.

Ants

What do they eat?

Different species of ants eat different things. Some eat fruit and plant material while others eat dead bugs and insects.

Moths

What do they eat?

When they are caterpillars, moths will eat plant material. As adults moths will mostly drink nectar for survival.

Bonneville Cutthroat Trout

What does it eat?

These fish eat aquatic insects and other small fish.

Indian Ricegrass

Big Sagebrush

Pinion Pine Tree

Holgrem's Buckwheat

